MINE DISASTER DEAD NUMBER 76; SOME OF 32 INJURED MAY DIE

76 DEAD IN MINE DISASTER, 32 INJURED IN HOSPITAL; RESCUE WORK CONTINUES

63 Dead Had Been Removed Late To-Day and 13 Bodies Were in Mine.

SOME OF HURT DYING.

Company Officials Still Uncertain as to Number Who Went Into Shaft.

SPANGLER, Pa., Nov. 7 (Associated Press).—Thirteen additional bodies were taken from the mine of the Reilly Mine here, bringing the total dead recovered to sixty-three. All are in the temporary morgue. Thirteen more bodies were in the mine, rescuers said and thirty-two injured were in the Mine's Hospital. An explosion yesterday killed the men.

The rescue men said they had explored all but two hearings and did not expect to find any more bodies. Corner Schwan of Johnstown, doctor after noon began arrangements for holding the inquest. Volunteers have been obtained to dig the graves of the victims, most of whom will be buried in two Catholic cemeteries here. A carload of coffins arrived in Spangler this morning.

Efforts were being made to repair the pumps damaged by the explosion, while a force of workers were cutting a passageway through the coal between the eighth and ninth headings, with this work complete, they hoped to reach the last of the unexplored galleries by noon to-day.

Rescue workers searched through the treacherous water-soaked passages for the remaining dead twenty to twenty-five believed to have perished when the blast exploded more than ninety men soon after they reported for work yesterday morning.

Officials of the Reilly Coal Company, owners of the mine, were not certain of the number of workers in the pit when the disaster occurred. The grim task of removing the dead started about 2 o'clock this morning, after widows and children of the missing men had been induced to return home. They stood in the misty rain all through yesterday. Six State troopers patrolled the area about the mine mouth and kept the hundreds of curious persons away.

Miners' Hall, a little structure here, was the temporary morgue. Undertakers here, in Barnesboro and in Johnstown were ordered to prepare for the dead men. Every delivery truck and wagon in Spangler was

FOG FALLS WHITE WAY, LIGHTS ON AT NOON

Dark Heavy Over Theatre District But Downtown Hardly Affected.

It was so dark in the Broadway theatre district at 11 o'clock this morning that street cars and automobiles were lighted. Merchants turned on their electric signs, the theatres did likewise, and the whole district presented at noon the appearance of evening.

Downtown, although foggy, it was not nearly so dark as in the 42d Street district.

FIGHTING IN DUBLIN FOLLOWS ISSUE OF DEFY BY DE VALERA

Rebels Ambush Free State Troops and Attack Portobello Barracks at Night.

ATTACKS REPULSED.

Mary MacSwiney, on Hunger Strike, Prays for Courage to Endure.

DUBLIN, Nov. 7.—Open rebellion against the Irish Free State flared up in Dublin last night. Insurgent snipers from alleyways ambushed three lorries of National troops in Angier Street and many pedestrians were wounded in an exchange of volleys and a subsequent stampede to safety. A considerable rebel force attacked Portobello Barracks, where Free State troops repulsed the onslaught. The office of the Irish Independent was bombed.

This activity followed a proclamation signed by Eamon De Valera, who has assumed his erstwhile title of "President of the Irish Republic" and declared his followers would fight until exterminated rather than cooperate with the Free State Government.

Mary MacSwiney, widow of the Lord Mayor of Cork who died after a hunger strike, has herself gone on a hunger strike, following her arrest, according to an insurgent announcement. "I do not know if they will let me die," Miss MacSwiney wrote in a letter made public by De Valera's aides. "But if they do, pray for me that I shall have courage to go through with it."

HAS BACK BROKEN IN SCHOOL FOOTBALL GAME

Ellis Galloway, eighteen, of Plainfield, N. J., hurt in scrimmage. While he was playing tackle to-day for the Plainfield (N. J.) High School football team against Batten High School of Elizabeth, Ellis Galloway, eighteen, was knocked down and his back was broken. He is at Muhlenberg Hospital in a serious condition. The boy is the son of Dr. W. W. Galloway, Plainfield pharmacist, and a senior at the school.

The accident occurred on Parker Field in the midst of the game, when three or four heavy players fell upon the Plainfield youth.

Watch the Sky! Watch the Sky! For the Evening World's Comet Flaring the Election's Result

The Comet Will Be an Aeroplane With a Fiery Tail of White (Smith Elected), or Red (Miller Elected).

Second Plane 3,000 Feet in Air to Take Pictures of City by Light of First Plane's Flare.

Watch the sky for The Evening World's election news comet to-night. It will appear off to the East over Long Island just as soon as the election returns indicate certainly who has been elected Governor. If Smith wins it will be white. If Miller wins it will be red.

In either case it will be almost blinding, even at the height through which the great torch will be whirled by the airplane. And a thousand feet above the city lighted by the election news flare, with all the lights and glare and searchlight shafts of the usual election night carnival.

The feat undertaken by Stanley Hubbard in making a night flight with a burning flare over New York City is unprecedented. It is worthy of his record as successful stunt flyer in various parts of the country and of his war record.

Mark Hogue is to fly the photograph plane. Hubbard and Hogue are two of the best known civilian flyers in the world. They have flown together frequently and The Evening World is particularly fortunate in having the opportunity to use their services.

They have need of all their skill and experience, for night flying is far more hazardous than daylight flight. With a flare that is ten times more brilliant than any other burned on a plane, the pilot must make high speed to keep the comet tail strung out behind him, even though he is flying "blind," for on account of the glare the lights of the city and harbor will be of no aid to him. He must depend upon such sense of direction as he can get from an especially constructed compass and the feel of the air in his face. Moreover, flying over a city means encountering bumps, bumps and then more bumps.

Watch the sky to-night. And watch The Evening World to-morrow for the first night pictures of a New York Election Night taken from 3,000 feet in the air with the first flying flare ever used by a newspaper to announce a result furnishing the illumination for the picture.

Of course if the fog which darkened the city this afternoon has not lifted before the result of the election is

THE WORLD'S ELECTION NEWS

THE WORLD Has Perfected Arrangements To Give Complete Election Returns To-night

A large curtain will be placed on the front of the Pulitzer Building, where the score boards are, and the returns will be flashed on it by stereopticon from across the street. Every one in City Hall Park may read them.

The same information also will be given by stereopticon at the following branches of The World:

Uptown - - - 38th Street and Broadway

Harlem - - - 7th Avenue and 125th Street

The Bronx - - - Third Avenue and 149th Street

In addition to the returns, a light will be flashed from the dome of the Pulitzer Building to announce the winner in the Governorship race—

WHITE LIGHT if SMITH Wins

RED LIGHT if MILLER Wins

HALL PROSECUTOR NOT TO STOP TRIP OF HENRY STEVENS

World Tour of No Interest. As Suspects Live in New Brunswick.

JURY MEETS FRIDAY.

Examination of Witnesses Continues—Widow Expects Indictment.

(Special From a Staff Correspondent of The Evening World.)

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 7.—The declaration of Mrs. Ethel Stevens, wife of Henry Stevens of Lavayette, brother-in-law of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, who was murdered a month and a half ago with Mrs. Eleanor Mills, that she and her husband are going to start a trip around the world, aroused no interest in Special Prosecutor Mott.

Mrs. Stevens said the trip had been planned to begin Sept. 16, the day the bodies were found. To start it now, she said, might force the authorities to show their hands by compelling the arrest or detention of her husband so that he could clear himself at once and for all time of any complicity in the murders.

Mr. Mott is reported to have told a correspondent here that Henry Stevens is free to go away at any time and stay as long as he likes. The persons for whom warrants are to be asked late this week or early next week are all residents of New Brunswick.

A humorous angle Mrs. Stevens finds to the grim tragedy in the actions of the two State troopers sent to watch her husband. They are now traipsing regularly past the house, though Henry Stevens is twelve miles away at Gunning Point, hunting and fishing. He left one morning at 3 o'clock and the troopers do not yet know it.

While Stevens is at the Point he keeps unfurled a flag that can be seen at home by his wife. He takes it down when he starts back home, so she always knows when to expect him.

MRS. STEVENS TALKS FREELY TO REPORTERS.

Mrs. Stevens talked freely and frankly of the case to reporters. Among other things she said:

"I believe the solution of this crime has not even been hinted at yet. Has any one thought of looking up children in Mrs. Mills' life? I have been told that one man is dead. I suggest that he be looked up to see if he is dead."

She told how she and her husband had planned to leave on a world tour

RAIN, FOG AND THUNDER MARK PHILA. ELECTION

Black Clouds Hang Low and Voting Is Light.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Rain, fog, thunder and almost the darkness of midnight marked the forenoon of Election Day here. Black clouds hung so low over the city that all office buildings were lighted. Voting was light all over the city.

CONGRESS TO BE CALLED FOR SPECIAL SESSION TO CONVENE NOV. 20

President Harding Will Issue Call This Week, Says White House Statement.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—President Harding expects to issue a call Thursday or Friday for a special session of Congress convening Nov. 20.

This was announced to-day at the White House.

FEW ARRESTED AT POLLS AND PEACE PREVAILS AS BULK OF VOTE IS CAST EARLY

Only One Man Held of Five Accused of False Registration—Gilbert Admits Police Are Efficient and Know Laws—Overwhelming Vote for Smith in City Indicated.

The outstanding feature of to-day's election was the complete failure of Deputy Attorney General Gilbert and the Honest Ballot Association and their 1,500 volunteer preservers of the sanctity of the ballot and their $100,000 appropriation from the Legislature to substantiate Gov. Miller's charge that the Democratic Party planned to vote an army of repeaters.

Up to noon only five arrests of alleged illegally registered voters had been made by the vigilant Deputy Attorney General, who clutched up the vicinity of the polling places in overwhelmingly Democratic districts, and only one of the alleged offenders had been held.

"There are more Deputy Attorneys General in New York to-day than there are Colonels south of the Mason-Dixon line," remarked Magistrate Overwager in Centre Street Police Court, when he refused to entertain a complaint against Leroy Raymond, fifty-five years old, a chef, who lives at the Unkas Hotel, No. 72 Bowery, when he is not working in places where sleeping quarters are provided. Raymond was arrested by a policeman at the polling place at Baxter and Hester Streets, after he had sworn in his vote, on the complaint of one of Mr. Gilbert's deputies who did not take the trouble to go to court and press his charge.

"The prisoner," said Magistrate Overwager, "is discharged with the apologies of the court."

Mr. Gilbert admitted at noon at his office in Columbus Circle that the conduct of the police had been uniformly good and that they appeared actually to be efficient and to know something about the election laws. Earlier in the day he had complained to Inspector Bolan that a policeman in a polling place in West 58th Street had insulted one of the non-resident volunteer "rah" rah boy watchers by calling him a "messenger." Inspector Bolan was properly shocked and sent a reprimand to the cop, who remarked: "What do they expect us to do to these hicks—salute 'em?"

Special Deputy Attorney General Grover M. Moscovitz, officiating in Brooklyn, was as unsuccessful as Mr. Gilbert in Manhattan in verifying Gov. Miller's charge. Only four arrests were made in Brooklyn during the morning. In each case it was established to Mr. Moscovitz's satisfaction that an honest mistake had been made by the complaining officer, the complaint was dismissed and the accused citizen was allowed to cast his vote.

It was just an ordinary, quiet, good natured, honest, New York City Election Day. The bulk of the vote was in the ballot boxes at 1 o'clock this afternoon and, except in polling places where the registration was unusually heavy, the polling clerks spent a quiet afternoon.

The dark and gloomy morning slowed up early voting. Citizens who did not have to go to work slept late. Except for exchanges of reports between Tammany and "rah" rah watchers in parts of the city where "culture" does not predominate no disturbances were reported.

Gloomier than the day were the Republican watchers at the polling places of Greater New York. So many people announced as they turned in their ballots, "There goes another for Al Smith," that Republican depression was natural. From reports received by The Evening World from various sections of the city, voters were marking their ballots exultantly enough to indicate that there was not much scratching.

District Attorney Banton made

143 OF 168 EARLY VOTERS FOR SMITH IN DISTRICT USUALLY REPUBLICAN

Only 21 Say They Cast Ballots for Miller—Henry Vote for Steinmetz.

The 11th Election District of the 23d Assembly District, on Washington Heights, has hitherto been claimed as Republican. But a citizen of Democratic allegiance telephoned to The Evening World this forenoon that of 168 voters who appeared at the polling place, 170th Street and St. Nicholas Avenue, in the early hours of voting, 143 said they had voted for Smith, twenty-one voted for Miller and four refused to say how they had voted. The total registration in the district was 233.

It was said also that a heavy vote was being cast for Steinmetz, Socialist candidate for State Engineer.

STRUCK BY TRAIN IN WHITE PLAINS.

Louis Apole, thirty years old, of No. 23 Madison Avenue, White Plains, was struck by a train at Fordham Road and Park Avenue to-day. He was taken to Fordham Hospital with a fractured skull and lacerations of the body.
